reception and customer service desks

Pronto

Customer services desks

The reception is your first interaction with customers and helps define your image.

Today reception space is more than a place to greet visitors and answer the telephone, it is an active and busy workplace that handles sensitive information, hosts expensive equipment and provides your first opportunity to create a positive professional impression.

'The TOP-TEC designers took on board our requirements and were able to offer us a wide range of choice when it came to the finishing touches. We have had very positive feedback from both clients and staff.'

Gary Storer Practice Manager Quality Solicitors Silks.

Corporate Branding

Our illuminated corporate branding enables business's to incorporate their company logo onto workspace furniture, in order to promote greater brand awareness with customers.

This is especially effective for creating welcoming reception environments, in which clients will become familiar with the company brand in their first interactions with your organisation.

Enhanced Functionality

Dual height worktop distinguishes between the customer domain and administrative workspace.

Lockable drawer units and integrated IT security is configured to your requirements.

Built in leaflet and documentation storage helps to keep the desk area tidy.
